MEAN MR. PAULSEN

AS HIS JOB becomes more threatened, Congressman Erik Paulsen is now running at full sprint away from his record.

His latest act is to push fellow Republicans for a vote on DACA, which protects from deportation immigrants who arrived here illegally as children, through no fault of their own. Paulsen's clearly hoping to put a kinder spin on his mean-ass record, which consists of voting with Trump 97 percent of the time.

What he won't be mentioning is that he's already voted 18 times to block assistance to these kids.

THE MUSKIE WARS

The anti-science crowd elbows its way into fishing

Two years ago, when the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources planned to stock muskies in a chain of popular fishing spots near Brainerd, some residents revolted.

They worried muskies would eat walleye and crappie. They also worried that humans brave enough to venture into the water would get bitten.

Otter Tail County residents rustled up a campaign against the DNR and tried to pass anti-muskie stocking legislation in the spring of 2016. They failed, but succeeded in getting the DNR to halt the stocking of three lakes: Lizzie, Loon, and Franklin.

This year, the anti-muskie crowd martialled the help of Sen. Bill Ingebrigtsen, an Alexandria Republican, to get a broad bill introduced in the Senate that would have banned muskie stocking. It also called for yanking $100,000 from the game and fish fund to study Minnesotans' attitudes about stocking.

The measure was eventually whittled down to just Otter Tail County, then rolled into a spending bill, like so many wads of Play-Doh fused into a single gargantuan ball. But it failed to get traction. They'll be back again next year.

Consider it the latest attempt at a citizen takeover of the DNR, one fueled in complete defiance of science.

"It's the dumbest piece of legislation I've ever seen," says Shawn Kellett of the Twin Cities chapter of Muskies Inc.

The DNR has already done countless studies on muskies. The general consensus: Introducing them to lakes isn't harmful to native fish populations. In fact, a 2012 study of 41 lakes even found their presence was sometimes helpful to walleye.

DNR fisheries chief Don Pereira says muskies are "ecologically benign," and draw in a growing number of people interested in catching big fish. Kellett thinks the legislation is trying to solve a problem that Shawn Kellett and other muskie advocates think the fish's predatory reputation is being used to make them a scapegoat.

GETTY IMAGES

doesn't exist, all while diverting the DNR's attention and resources, and pitting muskie and walleye anglers against one another.

"It only serves to undermine the DNR in their attempt to create one of the best muskie fisheries in the world," Kellett says.

Which is why he and others believe this isn't about fish—it's about control.

"The muskies are just a smokescreen," says John Underhill, the co-chair of the Minnesota Muskie Alliance. He thinks the legislation is one more attempt by local lake associations to wrest control from the DNR and reduce out-of-town boat traffic from muskie hunters. Though it's still a niche form of fishing, it's growing fast.

Says Underhill: "Just because you own property on a lake doesn't mean you own the lake." —HANNAH JONES

Land of 10,000 Deaths

The best, most Minnesotan ways to perish

People sure seem to love it here. They've got plenty of reasons: natural beauty, decent citizens, a robust economy, the occasionally successful delivery of a government service. What's not to love?

Our citizenry should take a more expansive view. We should embrace more than the way we live; let us also take pride in the uniquely Minnesotan ways we die. Below, a roundup of recent obituaries and crime blotter stories in newspapers from across this great state:

Marco Rogers, 33, of St. Paul, died doing what he loved: eating a Jucy Lucy at the Blue Door Pub and yelling that his friend Dave was wrong, and that this establishment's cheese-filled burger was superior to all others. The combined activities led to Rogers' choking, which his companion failed to notice, having decided at last to see what the big deal was. "It really is pretty good, but I'm still not sure it's my favorite," said Dave, adding that he would miss Marco.

Heather Nichols, 24, and Ryan Elko, 28, both of St. Paul, were found dead in the Mall of America Tuesday morning following a simultaneous starvation that authorities say highlights the dangers of Tinder dates with passive-aggressive partners. Surveillance tape shows the would-be couple arrived at the mall at 4 p.m., and spent the next six hours passing by hundreds of stores, counters, and restaurants, pointing at various menu items, and shrugging. They died within 15 feet of the counter at Poukei, where Nichols had hesitated, explaining she liked sushi and burritos, but wasn't sure if she was in the mood for a sushi burrito.

Ibrahim Samatar, 27, his wife Sahra, 28, and their two children were killed in a construction accident in Minneapolis when a team of developers were in such a rush to build a high-end apartment complex they forgot to force out the Samatars and tear down their home. Apartments start at $1,300 for a one-bedroom. Street parking available.

Nicole Bach, 68, of Maplewood, was crushed to death last weekend while posing next to the "world's largest ball of twine" in Darwin, Minnesota. Bach's husband, Rocky, had thought it would be "neat" to sneak the 18,000-pound ball out of its gazebo enclosure for a better photograph, but discovered almost immediately he could not control the 12-foot spheroid. Nicole's last words as she fled the beloved local landmark were: "Why couldn't it have been the biggest cube?"

Nick Babbitt, 30, of White Bear Lake, volunteered to be the first participant in the Minnesota Science Museum's novel new "Understanding the Corn Industry" exhibit, but did not survive its inaugural run. Babbitt, a teacher and the husband of a museum employee, was doused in animal feces, forced to drink a gallon of ammonia, encouraged to vomit into a local water supply, and then fed to pigs. His remains were liquefied for use in Coca-Cola.

Carrie Jo Newton, 47, of Minneapolis, was set upon by an angry mob of colleagues and torn to pieces after reaching for the last slice of birthday cake during an office break room party. Each of the 11 co-workers present at the time admitted playing some role in Newton's violent end, according to police reports, which indicate the dozen of them had been making small talk and hovering awkwardly around the lone remaining piece for 40 minutes before Newton made her move. Suspects variously explained Newton "knew what she did," was "probably already burning in Hell," and "must've been from somewhere else, New York or Chicago maybe, to think she can act like that and get away with it."

Diane Martinson, 26, of Roseville, was declared dead on Friday after she and the Prius she was driving disappeared into one of St. Paul's infamous potholes. Witnesses to the bizarre, though not unheard of, accident said the hole was deep enough they did not hear the vehicle hit bottom. If there is a bottom: Experts with the Department of Natural believe the pothole may in fact be a "secret" mouth to the Mississippi River, while scientists at the University of Minnesota have speculated it may somehow be connected to Hawaiian volcanoes.

Robbie Swenson, 17, of Duluth, died last week after injuries sustained during a class field trip to the Hull-Rust-Mahoning taconite mine in Hibbing. Swenson, who surreptitiously had headphones in throughout the trip and could not hear his teacher or mine employees, mistook a pile of taconite pellets for a complimentary sample of a high-protein, low-sugar cereal favored by the miners. After consuming the metal bits, Swenson was heard to say something about getting "totally swole," though he soon clutched his stomach and keeled over.

Phillip Schmidt, 41, of Caledonia, will be remembered as a tragic hero after bravely agreeing to a drinking contest with a Wisconsin native. According to witnesses, the two began their drink-off in the late evening hours of May 14... 2007. During the interceding decade-plus, their contest paused only twice, for 10 minutes each time, to allow Schmidt to attend his daughter's wedding (which, conveniently, happened to be held at the bar) and his wife's divorce party (same).

Pete Amundsen, 60, of Becker, could not be revived after experimenting with what he thought was a promising mash-up of Midwestern food culture and a classic party game, ignoring friends' and relatives' warnings about "Bobbing for Cheese Curds." The concept has also been withdrawn from possible inclusion in this year's Sherburne County Fair. Friends writing on Letovski's Facebook wall remembered him as "sweet," "maybe not the sharpest knife in the drawer," and "perfectly golden brown." 🍷

MOVIE SCREENINGS

BRIT'S ANNUAL OUTDOOR MOVIE SERIES

Every Monday, August 13 through 27, Brit's Pub in downtown Minneapolis clears the lawn bowlers from its rooftop greensward for an outdoor screening of British cinema. The schedule this year is a trilogy of Simon Pegg films: Shaun of the Dead (August 13), Hot Fuzz (August 20), and The World's End (August 27). Head over a little before the show starts at 8:30 p.m., grab a pint of Guinness, and watch the sun go down. Visit www.britspub.com for more information. Free. Brit's Pub, 1110 Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis, 612-332-3908.

CINEMA AND CIVICS

This year Cinema and Civics hosts outdoor screenings every Wednesday in June. The night begins at 7:45 p.m. with live music and snacks for sale, followed by family-friendly movies at dusk. Beauty and the Beast kicks things off on June 6 with a dose of music, and viewers are invited to sign along. Bring a tissue to Coco, which screens June 13. Tensions will be high during Hitchcock's Rear Window on June 20. The series ends on June 27 with the Looney Tunes-loaded Space Jam. For more information on the lineup of films or cancellations in inclement weather, visit www.facebook.com/cinemaandcivics. Stevens Square Park, 1801 Stevens Ave. S., Minneapolis.

LATE NIGHT AT THE RIVERVIEW

When you're settled into your theater seat, watching your favorite movie, jangling all that extra pocket change from your uber-cheap ($3!) movie tickets, you'll relish the truth: Sometimes the best things happen late at night. Starting June 8 and running all the way through September 15, the Riverview Theater will screen various classics such as Clueless, Yellow Submarine, Thelma & Louise, Howl's Moving Castle, and the recent, critically acclaimed thriller Get Out. Showtime is 11:30 p.m. every Friday and Saturday night. For more information or to see the full lineup, visit www.riverviewtheater.com. Riverview Theater, 3800 42nd Ave. S., Minneapolis; 612-729-7369.

MIDNIGHT MOVIES AT UPTOWN THEATRE

This summer, Uptown Theatre will continue to do what it does best: screen quirky, iconic, hard-to-find, and enduring classics at midnight screenings on Friday and Saturday nights. The upcoming schedule includes '80s classic Fletch, gorgeously animated Howl's Moving Castle, and monthly screenings of The Rocky Horror Picture Show. The mind-blowingly bad The Room will also terrify and amuse midnight stoners and caffeine-loaded college kids. Uptown Theatre, 2906 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis; 612-823-3005.

MOVIES IN THE PARKS

Once again, the Minneapolis Park Board is bringing over 70 free film screenings to neighborhoods across the city. This year's lineup is awesome. There are recent mega-hits (Black Panther, Star Wars: Last Jedi), recent critical darlings (Hidden Figures, Coco), delightfully cheesy '80s flicks (Ghostbusters, Spaceballs), and golden-era classics (Singin' in the Rain, West Side Story). Oh yeah, and they also have some awful-looking stuff that might be fun to watch after a few beers (Despicable Me, The Greatest Showman). All of these shows start at dusk. Bring a blanket, snacks, and, most importantly, bug spray. For more info, check out Park and Rec's handy website: www.mplsmusicandmovies.com. Movies are screening now through August 31.

SOUND FOR SILENTS: FILM + MUSIC

Last year, the Walker Art Center chose to pare down its film series to one evening. That will be the format again this year. The museum will host revelers on the grassy hill as they watch silent-film selections from 1920s, including abstract animation by Walter Ruttmann (Lichtspiel: Opus I and Opus II, III, and IV), plus his 1927 work Berlin: Symphony of a Great City (Berlin: Die Sinfonie der Grosstadt). Charles Sheeler and Paul Strand's Manhatta (1920–1921), and animation pioneer Winsor McCay's The Sinking of the Lusitania (1918) will also screen. The works will feature an original soundtrack—commissioned by the Walker—by Martin Dosh. The event is completely gratis. Find more details at www.walkerart.org. Walker Art Center, 1750 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, 612-375-7600. August 16, at dusk.

TRYLON CINEMA

Throughout the year, Trylon microcinema brings in a wide variety of flicks. That includes silver-screen classics, obscure films, world premieres, and cult movies. The recently renovated space has a full lineup this summer, including a series of Paul Verhoeven films (Total Recall, Show-girls). A Fistfull of Spaghetti Westerns takes viewers through a selection of gritty cowboy flicks from the '60s and '70s. The monthly Tape Freaks invites audiences to take in a surprise movie that time forgot for $5, and Trash Film Debauchery will also be screening awesome crap. Check out their lineup at www.trylon.org. Trylon Cinema, 3258 Minnehaha Ave. S., Minneapolis, 612-424-5468.

janelle mon  

State Theatre

After her breakout acting roles in Oscar nominees Hidden Figures and Moonlight, Janelle Mon   returned to music in earnest with April's Dirty Computer, her first album in five years. On her adventurous, Afrofuturistic first two albums, 2010's The ArchAndroid and 2013's The Electric Lady, Mon   kinetically blended pop, R&B, soul, rap, and funk. Dirty Computer (which, as with The Electric Lady, Prince worked on before his death) is 20 minutes shorter than either, but it's still eclectic and full of ideas, with contributors ranging from Brian Wilson to Pharrell to Grimes. And with Mon  's focus on themes of race and sexuality—she came out as pansexual in a Rolling Stone cover story earlier this year—it feels like the record Mon   was born to make. Highlights include her fierce raps on "Django Jane," the Grimes-assisted electropop of "Pynk," and the Prince-ly "Make Me Feel." With St. Beauty. 7:30 p.m. $53.50-$93.50. 805 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis; 612-339-7007. July 3 —MICHAEL MADDEN

paramore

Armory

Rarely does a band transform like Paramore has and make it work so well. Led by its only constant member, Hayley Williams, the Tennessee three-piece has departed from the explosive pop-punk of “Misery Business” and “Crushcrushcrush” that first won over an audience a decade ago. With last year’s After Laughter, the band’s fifth album and the follow-up to their 2013 self-titled record, Williams and her crew took to exuberant ’80s new wave and synth-pop sounds without a misstep. From the album opener “Hard Times” onward, Williams, who can sound fiery and graceful at the same time, comes across as a bona fide pop star. Though it’s the kind of record guaranteed to alienate some longtime fans, it all made for a surprisingly smooth transition that’s still rooted in the band’s alt-rock beginnings. With Foster the People and Jay Som. 6 p.m. $55-$150. 500 S. Sixth St., Minneapolis; 612-315-3965. July 5 —MICHAEL MADDEN

courtney barnett

Surly Brewing Festival Field

Australian singer-songwriter Courtney Barnett was clearly a special talent right from the start. Her 2013 debut single, “Avant Gardener,” introduced her conversational, wry lyricism and a cool detachment that lent itself to effortless melodies. Barnett made her full-length debut in 2015 with Sometimes I Sit and Think, and Sometimes I Just Sit, then found a kindred slacker in Kurt Vile, releasing the joint LP Lotta Sea Lice with the Philly indie rocker last year. Barnett’s follow-up, May’s Tell Me How You Really Feel, is more of a grower than her previous records, but what it lacks in immediacy it makes up for with pointed writing about misogyny and patriarchy on tracks like the punk scorcher “I’m Not Your Mother, I’m Not Your Bitch” and the Kim and Kelley Deal-assisted “Nameless, Faceless.” With Julien Baker and Lucy Dacus. 18+. 6 p.m. $37.50/$40. 520 Malcolm Ave. SE, Minneapolis; 763-999-4040. July 21 —MICHAEL MADDEN

COURTESY OF THE ARTISTS

jay-z and beyoncé

U.S. Bank Stadium

Music's most powerful husband-and-wife team may have skipped the Twin Cities in 2014 with their first On the Run Tour, but at least we get to check out the sequel. And it's been an eventful four years for the Knowles-Carter family, with Jay-Z and Beyoncé publicly working through his Eric Benét-like infidelity, leading to one deeply personal album apiece. In 2016, two months after her Super Bowl L halftime performance, Beyoncé released the stylistically exploratory Lemonade, unambiguously singing about Jay's cheating but not too rattled to keep her from making a masterpiece. Jay, meanwhile, is coming off last year's 4:44, his first vital solo album in a decade. On the entirely No I.D.-produced LP, he purposefully delivered "a million dollars' worth of game for $9.99," his topics including financial advice, regret over his dalliances, even his mother's recent coming-out. He's since remained in the spotlight due, in part, to his (reciprocated) criticisms of Trump. 7:30 p.m. $49.50-$1,993. 401 Chicago Ave., Minneapolis; 612-777-8700. August 8 —MICHAEL MADDEN

JOHN SALANGSANG

taylor swift

U.S. Bank Stadium

At this point, Taylor Swift has completely abandoned Nashville, doubling down on the full-on modern pop of 2014's 1989 with last fall's Reputation. The lead single from her sixth album, "Look What You Made Me Do," introduced the LP's electronic beats and positioned Swift in an oddly meta mode. The rest of Reputation can be messy at times—Ed Sheeran and Future probably don't even belong on the same album, let alone the same track—but hooky songwriting prevails on "...Ready for It?," "Gorgeous," the hit-waiting-to-happen "Getaway Car," and the momentary delicacy of closing song "New Year's Day." Swift's Minneapolis visit, her first to the Twin Cities since 2015, marks the first time an artist has performed two consecutive nights at U.S. Bank Stadium. With Camila Cabello and Charli XCX. 7 p.m. $47.50-$897. 401 Chicago Ave., Minneapolis; 612-777-8700. August 31 and September 1—MICHAEL MADDEN

northern spark 2018

Downtown Minneapolis

True to its ever-evolving nature, nocturnal arts festival Northern Spark has undergone a transformation: The latest iteration of the community-focused gathering will no longer be a one-night dusk-to-dawn affair, but will instead take place over two consecutive evenings, commencing at sundown and concluding at 2 a.m. each night. There should be ample time to enjoy festivities thanks to the three host sites—the Commons, Minneapolis Central Library, and Nicollet Mall (between Third and Eighth Streets)—being so centrally located. Not only are these venues in close proximity to one another, each underscores Northern Spark's goal of accessibility, a mission further reinforced by this year's theme of commonality. Like a recurrent thread running through the multimedia displays, interactive activities, and ongoing performances, Northern Spark continues to foster an inclusivity vast enough to honor our wonderfully diverse Twin Cities community. Find locations and more info at 2018.northernspark.org. 9:02 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday. June 15-16 —BRAD RICHASON

"No one has bought a ticket," says Joseph Papke about the particular pressure of presenting Shakespeare in the park. "No one has to sit there and listen to you. If they stay, it's because what you're doing is engaging them." This is the fifth year Papke's company, Classical Actors Ensemble, is bringing the Bard to Twin Cities green spaces, and audiences have been steadily increasing. Papke says it's gone from, "Oh, hey, there's 30 people today! That's great," to, "Oh my God, there's like 250 people here." This year, the company is breaking with past practice and presenting a tragedy instead of a comedy. They're not hitting us with Lear, though: They're staging Romeo and Juliet. "It actually is a fantastic balance of comedy and tragedy," says Papke. Even if you just caught the Guthrie's 2017 production, Papke believes the timeless tale is worth seeing again. "There's something to the experience of going through the story with actors in an intimate, real-world setting in the beauty of our local parks." The best place to spend Father's Day weekend (with or without your dad) is the Stone Arch Bridge Festival. Taking over the riverfront area of St. Anthony Main, the festival is the third largest in Minneapolis, attracting thousands of visitors each year. You like live music? Check out the three stages of free concerts. You want art? They have more than 200 artists showing off an incredible array of work using any material you can imagine. There's also a classic-car show, a beer sampler, and family activities, meaning that you could have three entirely unique days of sweaty summertime fun. Best of all? You can tell your dad you brought him along because it's his day—even if you don't care about him at all. For more info, visit www.stonearchbridgefestival.com. 5 to 10 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Free. 212 SE Second Ave., Minneapolis. June 15-17 —PATRICK STRAIT

twin cities pride

Loring Park

Twin Cities Pride returns this summer for two days of fun. This festival offers sporting tournaments, representatives from political and outreach organizations, a beer garden, food trucks, and family fun in Loring Park. Or just sit on a nice patch of grass and chat up some new friends. Saturday night's concert headliner is early-aughts icon Brandy. The parade on Sunday morning is always memorable. As it marches along Hennepin Avenue, from Third Street to 16th Street, you'll spot local sports teams, businesses, entertainers, and more, and there are plenty of places serving cocktails along the route. For a full schedule of happenings, visit www.tcpride.org. 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Free. 1382 Willow St., Minneapolis. June 23-24 —JESSICA ARM-BRUSTER

little mekong night market

Little Mekong

In 2014, the Little Mekong business district launched the Little Mekong Night Market as a way to draw visitors to all the splendid things the area has to offer. The festival features arts, culture, and dance groups performing traditional forms, hip-hop, and breakdance. There are plenty of kid-friendly art activities, and tons of delectable snacks: spicy tater tots, refreshing bubble tea, Twistatos chips, frozen yogurt, and towering Lu's sandwiches. You'll want to come with an empty stomach to take advantage of all there is to offer. More info can be found at www.littlemekong.com. The market opens up the first Saturday and Sunday of each month from July to October. 5 p.m. to midnight Saturday; 2 to 10 p.m. Sunday. minneapolis aquatennial

Various locations

Now in its 78th year, the Minneapolis Aquatennial is a celebration of the city. In addition to long-standing favorites like the Torchlight Parade and the massive fireworks finale, this year's party will include yard games on Hennepin County Government Center's South Plaza and lunchtime piano performances. For those looking to put the "aqua" in Aquatennial, Wednesday's Loring Park Family Fun Night will include free canoeing and paddling instruction from Wilderness Inquiry, and the always popular Twin Cities River Rats water ski show happening Thursday and Friday night. Sadly, the Aquatennial Beach Bash, with milk carton boat races and sandcastle building, is no more. However, the Minneapolis Fire Department and Kids' Zone will still be a part of the festivities. Run the Torchlight 5K, pick up your 2018 Skipper Pin, and get ready for the "Best Days of Summer" once again. For a complete schedule, check out www.aquatennial.com. July 18-21 —PATRICK STRAIT

the floating library

Phalen Park Beach

Just in time for National Library Week, the Floating Library returns to Lake Phalen. Yes, that's right, it's a library that floats in the middle of a lake. On this raft you'll find an oasis of art books and reading material for your pleasure and perusal, along with friendly merfolk librarians who will guide you to reading material that strikes your fancy. To get to the Floating Library, all you have to do is rent a canoe, kayak, or paddle boat, available at the shore. (Paddle boats are highly recommended for their ease and convenience in the reading-and-paddling department.) The library is filled with books created and donated by artists, submitted through an open call process. It's a great opportunity to check out some zines and indulge in visual delights, all while blissfully soaking in the sun on a beautiful lake. For more info, visit the-floatinglibrary.org. 1 to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Free. 1400 Phalen Dr., St. Paul. July 21-August 5 —SHEILA REGAN

greenway glow 2018

Midtown Greenway

Summertime bike rides are special. The annual Greenway Glow ride is especially memorable. Each year, the Midtown Greenway Coalition hosts an illuminated, artsy bike festival featuring twinkling art installations, fire artists, and treats. This year there will also be beer, eats from Taco Cat, and ice cream. The festival is free, but those who sign up for the VIP experience will help support the Greenway. Choose from family-friendly, twilight, and nighttime rides. Registration and more info can be found at midtowngreenway.org. 7 p.m. to midnight. Free; $35, plus $15 minimum in raised funds. 2834 10th Ave. S., Minneapolis. July 28 —JESSICA ARMBRUSTER fringe festival

Various locations

A quarter-century ago, Bob McFadden bet that the Twin Cities was ready for a Fringe festival like the one he'd seen in Winnipeg. "It gave virtual unknowns a chance to be seen, and it gave people who hadn't seen a lot of theater a chance to see a great deal," he told the Star Tribune as he launched the Minnesota Fringe Festival with similar goals. That democratic ethos, accentuated by the fact that the festival is non-juried, has fueled the growth of the Minnesota Fringe into one of the country's largest. For its 25th year, though, the festival is scaling back geographically: There won't be any performances in Uptown, with venues focused on hubs in the West Bank and northeast Minneapolis. The festival is also welcoming more out-of-town artists and launching a Family Fringe, "a concurrent juried festival championing multigenerational performances" at the Celtic Junction Arts Center. Despite the changes, the adventure of Fringing should remain fundamentally the same. You never know quite what you're going to get—and that's a good thing. Plan your Fringe by checking out the schedule at www.fringe festival.org. August 2-12—JAY GABLER

dr. falstaff and the working wives of lake county: a picnic operetta

Various locations

"Where we're at is where I hoped to be, in terms of the geographical reach of the project and the community around folks who dedicate their summer to coming together to make this work," says Scotty Reynolds, Mixed Precipitation's artistic director. There were precedents for shows resembling the company's picnic operetta—an itinerant blend of classical music, pop songs, and foodie fiesta—but it was still ambitious to imagine that the production would last for 10 summers, as it now has. This year's inspiration is The Merry Wives of Windsor, an opera composed by Otto Nicolai (1810-1849), with added songs by Bruce Springsteen. A landmark mining case in the Arrowhead Region, where Reynolds grew up, will also play into the plot. Mining can be a hot-button topic, but Reynolds says he's hoping to take an "even-handed and humorous" approach that evokes "the look and feel of late-'70s, early-'80s northern Minnesota." That environment, he says, "has been deeply embedded in my soul, my heart." $10-$20 suggested donation. Make reservations by calling 1-800-838-3006, or visit mixedprecipitation.org for locations and info.

minnesota renaissance festival

Festival Fairgrounds

Theater geeks, history lovers, and fans of all things sparkly: This is the summertime festival for you. Yeah, your trip back in time is going to be anachronistic; there's a tent where people can watch NFL games, and you'll probably spot at least one dude dressed as Dr. Who, but that is all part of the fun. Take in some campy theater, watch the guy who walks the flaming tightrope, and get a little tipsy in the bar that hosts 1400s-style jam bands (who doesn't want to hear Awolnation's "Sail" played on an oud?). Along the way you'll find games, quirky characters, and giant turkey legs. Themed happenings include pet-friendly days, Oktoberfest, and chocolate romance weekends. Be sure to stop by the tent near the jousting for free beer and wine samples. Tickets and more info can be found at www.renaissancefest.com. 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, plus Labor Day and Friday, September 28. $13.50-$24.95; season passes available. 12364 Chestnut Blvd., Shakopee; 952-445-7361. August 18-September 30 —JESSICA ARMBRUSTER

minnesota state fair

Minnesota State Fairgrounds

What's new this year at the Minnesota State Fair? Everything, and nothing—which is exactly the way Minnesotans like it. The ultra-sincere Coliseum contests will be back ("This little lady brought her horses all the way from Moorhead!"). Monsters will still be exhaustedly dancing to "Thriller" outside the Haunted House, and god knows Sweet Martha's anthropomorphic cookies will still be winking coyly, tempting you to take a bite. There will be snack-on-a-stick debuts, of course: Minnesotans anticipate the arrival of the State Fair's new-food list like wedding guests wait for the electric slide. Fairgoers will also bid adieu to a longtime staple that got a little stale: The Robbinsdale OES Dining Hall is becoming a new hub for Pronto Pups. Meanwhile, the Grandstand will offer nostalgia for every generation, from the '60s (the Beach Boys, a.k.a. Mike Love's Beach Boys cover band) to the '70s (Earth, Wind & Fire) to the '80s (Culture Club) to the '90s (311) to 2015 (Niall Horan of One Direction). Daily gate hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.; 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Labor Day. $9-$14. 1265 Snelling Ave. N., St. Paul; 651-288-4400. August 23-September 3 —JAY GABLER

2018 beer dabblers

Loring Park/CHS Field

What will be your brew of the summer? At this season's two Beer Dabblers, you might just find something new that you adore. During these sampling events, you'll be able to try 50 (Pride) to 350 (Summer) brews while taking in entertainment and snacking on food truck eats. At the Pride Dabbler on June 22, try varieties from Bad Weather, Indeed, Milk and Honey, and dozens more in Loring Park the day before the big festival. There will also be a few selections specifically brewed for the event, with touches inspired by an LGBTQ icon (who will be announced later this season). DJ Sheik, 4th Curtis, and Apollo Cobra will provide tunes, or play your own at the silent disco (bring earbuds). At the Summer Beer Dabbler on August 25, guests will head to CHS Stadium. This will be the 10th anniversary of the fest, which features live music and stadium eats. Tickets and more info for each happening can be found at beerdabbler.com. 21+. $50-$60; $20 designated driver. June 22 and August 25

beer and bacon classic

CHS Field

The Beer and Bacon Classic proudly bestows the titular duo with a headliner status worthy of their widespread popularity. The gathering showcases the diverse range of beer and the delectable versatility of bacon via the ingenuity of the vendors. Covering libations will be some 100-plus beers poured from an impressive array of regional breweries, while edible options encompass over 30 bacon-centric dishes dreamed up by local chefs. Attendees can take advantage of unlimited samples as they wander the ballpark, perhaps stopping to take in some music or participate in a lawn game. Those up for a challenge can even partake in a blind beer taste test or compete in a bacon-eating competition. Three ticket options are available, including the maximized indulgence of early entry, a pork belly tasting, a donut wall, and a limited-edition brew created specifically for the occasion. Find tickets and more info at www.baconandbeerclassic.com. Noon to 6 p.m. $55-$95. 360 N. Broadway St., St. Paul. July 14 —BRAD RICHASON

summer x games minneapolis

U.S. Bank Stadium

The X Games has elevated athletic risk-taking to precarious new heights, requiring that competitors be adept at executing precision flips, hairpin turns, and sky-high aerals. The X Games has been a popular staple of ESPN since making its debut in 1995, providing a showcase for the most astonishingly deft maneuvers to be attempted in the categories of skateboard, BMX, and Moto X. Whether on two wheels or four, the field of intrepid athletes will be gathering at U.S. Bank Stadium for a second consecutive year to compete. Held over four days, the X Games also invites spectators to partake in related activities, autograph sessions, and concerts (including Kaskade, Brother Ali, Ice Cube, and Zedd). Women's Adventure Spree
Experience the Superior Hiking Trail

September 29 - October 3, 2018

Join us as we trek one of the top ten hiking trails in the US - the Superior Hiking Trail (SHT). The trail skirts Lake Superior while running along MN's beautiful North Shore. This scenic wonder crosses through multiple state parks and offers stunning vistas, waterfalls, clear streams, rich forests, and great views of the world's greatest lake.

This journey will be an active exploration of some of the gorgeous and challenging stretches of the trail. Expect rugged hiking rewarded with great views and a tremendous sense of accomplishment. As a women's-only program, this offers great scenery, accommodations and camaraderie. Each day will end with the cozy comforts of a lodge.

Visit our Calendar of Events at www.audubon-center.org for details and registration

During this lodge-based adventure, experience one of the country's most scenic trails amongst a community of strong women!

Fall brings out the best in the SHT—low humidity, few bugs, intense colors, and migratory hawks and eagles.

LIVING THE DREAMCYCLE

Meet Wally O'Wonka, the merrymaker delivering desserts and delight by trike

ALMA GUZMAN

BY EMILY CASSEL

Stephen Gallivan is perched atop a hulking, hand-painted 1979 Ford Econoline camper van in the Uptown Lunds & Byerlys parking lot. It's a sunny Friday, late in the afternoon, and there's a pretty steady flow of young families and fresh-from-the-office shoppers pushing carts full of weekend grillables back to their compact cars.

Which is to say, Gallivan—now booming out a greeting and scrambling down from atop his auto—is getting a few looks. There are bemused expressions. Not that he even appears to notice—he's used to it, as this is actually a more understated version of the guy than most people see. Because today, he may be Stephen Gallivan, but he's perhaps better known as Wally O'Wonka: a bespectacled, bowtied, seersucker-suited ice cream man handing out frozen treats and inflating balloon animals on a vintage tricycle cart he calls Leprechaun's Dreamcycle.

"Isn't she gorgeous?" a grinning Gallivan asks, patting the van as he pulls his bike from her belly. "I just painted her a few weeks ago." ("The Cow?" I venture, pointing to some lettering on the passenger-side door. Gallivan smiles again. "Of course. She's big and slow and full of dairy.")

The camper may be new, but he's needed it for a while. Against all odds (and the expectations of his family), the whole treats-by-tricycle thing has rather taken off since he started delivering desserts in his St. Paul neighborhood in 2010. It's been his full-time gig since April Fools Day 2014. As we hop on our respective rides and hit the path, he explains that he often finds himself traveling beyond the Twin Cities. He wanted a vehicle that would transport his whole rig.

What prepared this middle-aged father of two for a career in balloon animals and bicycles, you ask? Why, what else: Before this, he spent 14 years as a concierge at the historic, luxurious St. Paul Hotel.

Perhaps you've guessed a guy who knows how to make more than 30 different balloon animals was not entirely satisfied wining, dining, and guiding guests to the finest hotspots in town. The truth is that he kind of always wanted to be an ice cream man—he just figured it was a faraway, goofy daydream he'd return to after a long career, once he sent his kids to college and settled into retirement.

But then, in 2008, his wife, Tena May, was diagnosed with a brain tumor. She couldn't work, and the medical bills were piling up to the point of becoming insurmountable. The family was broke. Gallivan needed another job. He reached out to friends in recruiting but couldn't find work; he considered taking a paper route to supplement his income.

Instead, behind Tena May's back, he bought a vintage Good Humor ice cream tricycle on eBay.

"I've learned through doing this that I'm more off-center than I thought I was," Gallivan laughs of the way his friends and family took it. It's not that they weren't supportive, but they were concerned. Tena May felt betrayed. They also thought he was a little nuts.

The tricycle paid for itself in a few short weeks. Treats were flying. There was something in the simple act of bringing joy by way of balloon animals and frozen bars that resonated with people. "And on my one-year anniversary, the family had a surprise 'Eat Crow' party for me. They were like, 'You were right, dude.' We still have these stuffed black crows all around the house."

ALMA GUZMAN

The business has taken off to a point where this summer, if you see Wally around town, you'll walk away having been handed your frozen treat sans charge. A few years ago, a woman contacted him with a request: If she sent money, would he give out ice cream for free? She paid him a few hundred dollars, and he paid it forward by way of pro bono desserts. And when he posted about it on Facebook, other people started doing it, too. Occasionally, these gifts are from people he knows; often, they aren't. But he's banked enough now that he can hand ice cream out for free all summer long—sometimes to kids on Summit Avenue; sometimes to the homeless.

Of course, it's not really about ice cream. Gallivan is more of an event host, or a street performer. Hire him for your wedding, and you'll find he's the de facto babysitter, surrounded by 20 kids. He wants to connect with people; starting next April Fool's Day, he's taking that aging Econoline on the road for a 13-stop, 40-day road trip, revisiting best friends he never thought he'd see again, former loves, people who've shaped him. He's much more interested in asking about the first concert you ever went to or your first favorite song than retelling the story of how he got into the frozen dairy business.

FOOD

ALMA GUZMAN

And when he does talk about himself, he's often talking about his family. About his wife, who lost function in one of her eyes to that tumor but today is otherwise healthy, and who sometimes appears alongside him as Wanda O'Wonka. There's also his 16-year-old daughter ("Wendy O'Wonka"), who will sling ice cream alongside her dad for the first time this summer, and the 18-year-old Archie ("Waldo O'Wonka"), who's been working with him these last few years. In fact, when Archie applied to college, his admissions essay was about becoming an ice cream man—about chasing your dreams while trying to make the world a better place.

"I used to think people hired my father to attend their events because ice cream is widely enjoyed, and ours represented the pinnacle of quality," Archie wrote. Eventually he started to understand that the Dreamsicles the family sold were really the same as any you'd find in the freezer at your closest grocery store—that the family sold a service rather than sweets. "And that service isn't ice cream at your doorstep," he noted, "it's a brief human connection." This fall, he'll head to George Washington University on a full scholarship to study political science.

Like his son, Gallivan says it took time for him to realize the business is more about joy than sugar. "If you see me this summer, it means one of your neighbors has said, 'We think this is cool, go do good things.'" He shakes his head, full of wonder at the kindness his character has inspired in the community. But he describes himself as simply a funnel, or an instrument, or a conduit for that message of joy.

"It's your neighbors who are doing it, though," he adds. "Isn't that the coolest thing in the world?"

GET ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT CARDIGAN DONUTS ON SATURDAYS THIS SUMMER

Wish you could get Cardigan Donuts' ethereal French crullers, churro rolls, and limited-edition pastry creations outside of office hours?

This summer, the popular donut lounge in the Minneapolis skyway will be open for Saturday brunch from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., featuring all-you-can-eat donuts and bottomless drip coffee. It kicked off Saturday, June 2.

"We've gotten so many customers asking us to be open on the weekends," general manager Justin Bedford tells City Pages. "We wanted to create a distinct experience for Saturday."

Bedford explains that the brunch option is geared towards people who don't work in downtown Minneapolis and might have a difficult time getting to

Cardigan during the week.

The $10.95 brunch is a sort of donut tasting menu: Customers get unlimited donuts (Bedford recommends starting with two or three) plus a bottomless cup of drip coffee or $2 off an espresso drink.

All of Cardigan Donuts' classic and premium options will be available, including Greek yogurt-enriched old fashioned, French crullers, bourbon apple fritters, and churro rolls served with little cups of chocolate sauce. There will also be three rotating donuts from the lineup of 50 "inspired" flavors (a donut schedule is available online—upcoming flavors range from mint cocoa to banana split).

"Our inspired donuts have niche flavor profiles," says Bedford. "Customers are often hesitant to try them and instead stick with what they know they like. This [brunch] concept gives them permission to taste across the spectrum and take a risk."

Donut brunch will only be available on Saturdays and is scheduled to run through August, although they plan to reassess in July. If enough donut lovers make the weekend trip downtown, Saturday brunch could become a year-round affair. Brunch-specific summer drinks are also in development—keep an eye out for nitro and kombucha-based mocktails.

Bedford sees Cardigan's brunch as a reason for people to make the skyway a Saturday destination.

"We're excited to build a new customer base," he says. "This is a local food tourism experience." —STACY BROOKS

COMEDY

SEATON SMITH

RICK BRONSON'S HOUSE OF COMEDY

"I've been lucky," says comedian Seaton Smith. "I went from doing backwoods college shows five years ago, to meeting everybody and doing everything. It's been very cool." The leap wasn't difficult as far as developing his set. "The general structure is still there," he says. "I found the main transition from open mics to college shows is that with open mics you're basically dealing with adults who are like-minded, mid-20s, and drunk. At colleges it's 18-year-old kids that really don't have any experience with anything, so my job a lot of the of the time was translating it and making it relatable. It was like, 'How do I make a crackhead joke make sense in the middle of Nebraska?'" But it's not like young people haven't heard of other cultures or what's going on in the rest of the world. "It just more or less comes down to the detail and which ones relate to you," he says. 16+. 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday; 9:45 p.m. Friday; 9:30 p.m. Saturday; 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. $16-$23. 408 E. COMEDY

DEAN EDWARDS

ACME COMEDY CO.

"Years ago I worked at Kmart before the powerhouse and juggernaut that is Walmart came and knocked everyone out of the box," explains comedian, actor, and former Saturday Night Live cast member Dean Edwards. Working at the "blue light" retailer gave him some practical experience for his future career as a standup comic. "That was one of the places where I was allowed to just sit and ponder, because when you're working stock, you're really the 'stuck' boy because you get stuck doing every job that they don't have a title for." Edwards stocked shelves, cleaned up spills, and ran errands. "But it let me interact with everyday people." He describes his set as a mix of observational comedy and current events involving pop culture. Impressions and characters abound as well. "Yeah, I guess that's my forte. That's my mutant power. I just pull out everybody from Jay-Z to 50 Cent, Denzel to Don Cheadle... James Earl Jones. Anyone that's on my mind, wherever the muse takes me." 18+. 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday; 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. $15-$18. 708 N. First St., Minneapolis; 612-338-6393.

Kordula Coleman deftly negotiates beauty and grief, instinct and intellect in her sculptures, which in this exhibition focus on human-animal interactions. Linda Seebauer Hansen also works in sculpture, but with a more abstract sensibility. Her textural painted surfaces, in juxtaposition with attached sculptural elements, delve into ideas of art, home, the conceptual, and the representational. Both artists take their understanding of craft in directions that are enlightening. GOAT TO YOUR HAPPY PLACE

INSIGHT BREWING

The inspired folks at Insight Brewing have introduced a new draw that will make them stand out from the competition: Goat to Your Happy Place, a three-hour period when the brewery will play host to 20 goats. These endearingly unpredictable creatures will provide a charming environment simply by doing their own thing, whether that means scampering over one another or hunkering down in a private corner. In honor of the taproom transforming into a petting zoo, Insight is offering three unique casks brewed specifically for the occasion: Notice Me Senpainnaple Dankbot IPA, G.O.A.T. Pear Saison, and Blackberry Bovidae Porter. Amid the roving goat shenanigans and the expanded ale sampling, visitors will find snacks served up by Black Market StP BBQ. Kids are welcome to attend (just so long as they are the human kind; Insight will provide the goat guests). Noon to 3 p.m. Free. 2821 E. Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis; 612-722-7222. —BRAD RICHASON

ROSALUX GALLERY

For several years, Rebecca Krinke has been crafting hauntingly provocative installations that serve as essays on memory, slumber, dream, sensuality, sexuality, and fantasy. Books and beds are at the center of these pieces, but she ups the ante with her latest show, "Reckoning," by adding fire and the semblance of architecture around her objects. Is it a room? A portal? A fractured fairy tale? Part Fahrenheit 451, part wicked modern fable about desire and intelligence, this work brings on shivers amid the heat. FESTIVAL

OPEN STREETS MINNEAPOLIS: LYNDALE

LYNDALE AVENUE

Since Open Streets Minneapolis launched in 2011, it has become a staple of summertime fun in the city. At each location, the roads become free of cars, filling with bicyclists, walkers, skateboarders, and unicyclists instead. It's a great day to go see your neighbors, have some yummy snacks from local businesses, and check out live music and entertainment as you make your way along the route. This Sunday's event on Lyndale Avenue has a packed lineup of programming for kids and adults. Whether you're watching performances, enjoying a free yoga session, getting some delicious food truck eats, or treating your pup to a dog massage, you won't be disappointed. New this year is a temporary course set up by Minneapolis Bike Parks, illustrating the possibilities of a future off-street bike park. Find more info at www.openstreetsmpls.org. 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Free. Lyndale Avenue South, from 22nd Street to 54th Street, Minneapolis. —SHEILA REGAN

THE PICNIC OPERETTA'S 10TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION: COCKTAILS, CAKES, AND CASH

DU NORD CRAFT SPIRITS

For the past decade, Mixed Precipitation has been traveling to public parks and gardens for its summertime Picnic Operetta. Each show is a mashup of traditional pieces and Top 40 bangers, and audiences are served delicious eats while they watch. This Monday, the troupe will be celebrating its 10th anniversary with a party at Du Nord Craft Spirits. There will be cocktails, handmade baked goods, cake, and other treats. Listen to a little opera, and get a sneak peek at this year's show, Dr. Falstaff and the Working Wives of Lake County, an original take on Otto Nicolai's The Merry Wives of Windsor. This installment will feature German opera, Bruce Springsteen bops, and a bit of Minnesota history. The birthday party will serve as a fundraiser for the show, which is coming to a garden near you

BOOKS

MATT GOLDMAN

ONCE UPON A CRIME

Minnesota's favorite private eye Nils Shapiro returns in Broken Ice, the new novel by Emmy award winner and New York Times bestselling author Matt Goldman. This installment finds Shapiro running Stone Arch Investigations with his straight-laced, ex-cop partner, Anders Ellegaard. The dynamic duo is called on to investigate the whereabouts of two teen girls from Warroad (a.k.a. Hockeytown, USA) who went missing during a high school hockey tournament at the Xcel Energy Center. The investigation has barely commenced when one of the girls turns up dead in a St. Paul cave and Shapiro suffers a brutal shoulder wound from an arrow shot by an anonymous archer. As Shapiro traces the teens' disappearances to a complicated web of drug trafficking and prostitution in the "shameless world" of the information age, the bachelor makes time for intimate moments with his ex-wife, current girlfriend, and an unexpected fling. Throughout, Goldman peppers the narrative with local landmarks like Macalester College and Mickey's Diner as well as snarky but authentic observations about "auto-polite" Minnesotans and the state's culture. 7 p.m. Free. 604 W. 26th St., Minneapolis; 612-870-3785. —ERICA RIVERA

KEEPING THE LIGHT ON

In First Reformed, Paul Schrader reflects on madness and holiness

Ethan Hawke

BY BRYAN MILLER

In First Reformed, Ethan Hawke stars as Reverend Toller, a troubled pastor tending to a sparse flock in a tiny upstate New York church only still standing because of its historical significance. Reverend Toller is a true believer who carries out his duties with an earnestness that belies the profound cost to his health and happiness. He is as much a lonely lighthouse keeper as a holy man.

Director Paul Schrader has been tending his own flame in relative solitude for years now. He's one of the last holdouts from his generation of iconoclastic '70s filmmakers. Ashby, Altman, and Nichols are dead. Francis Ford Coppola makes wine, Peter Bogdanovich has gone to seed, and Martin Scorsese has been (rightfully) nominated for sainthood.

Schrader never veered from his thorny path. The vogue for his hyper-aggressive explorations of suffering and nihilism came, went, came back, and went again, but he's still here. This despite coming off a grueling trio of features that includes two Nic Cage duds plus the cheap and sleazy, Lindsay Lohan-starring Bret Easton Ellis collaboration The Canyons.

But First Reformed is his best work since 2002's Auto Focus. And the grim, lurid Schraderisms come fast here.

The pregnant Mary (Amanda Seyfried) summons Toller to speak with her husband, Michael (Philip Ettinger), recently released from a prison stint for his environmental activism. Radicalized Michael believes the only moral choice in the era of climate change is to kill his new baby as soon as it's born. He's also considering more violent options.

Toller is a stand-in for Schrader here, speaking to his younger self. Time and tragedy have granted him wisdom he struggles to impart to a young, hotheaded revolutionary thinking in absolutes.

Their philosophical debates invigorate Toller, who has blunted his passions against the cold stone of an ascetic lifestyle. Tragedy drove him away from society, but in environmental extremism he sees the possibility for a greater expression of real holiness.

Or maybe he's come unhinged.

For all its fervid musings, First Reformed is more sober reflection than screed. Schrader ponders Kierkegaard and Thomas Merton, giving consideration to several sides of the argument.

Toller's house of worship is but a relic of an outpost for a 5,000-seat megachurch run by charismatic minister Jeffers (Cedric "The Entertainer" Kyles). But Schrader doesn't indulge in straw men here. Though he's clearly aligned with Toller's tiny parish, Schrader doesn't paint Jeffers in slickster clichés, and the character benefits from a terrific performance by Kyles, who holds his own with a never-better Hawke.

This is still Paul Schrader, so some hyperbole is expected. There's the unsubtle

FIRST REFORMED

directed by Paul Schrader
now open, Uptown Theatre contrast of Toller delivering a communion of wafers gracefully dipped in wine, followed by his solitary alcoholic dinner of a hunk of bread dunked into a bowl of whiskey. And a pregnant Christian girl named Mary? A bit on the nose.

But mostly this is thoughtful, compelling stuff that recalls Schrader's similar New England-set slow-motion freakout, Affliction. And Toller's drive through the banal poverty of a skid-row street is an intentionally hollow echo of Taxi Driver's Stygian sojourns through '70s-era NYC.

Schrader remains a true believer. His unflinching, thoughtful explorations of a bleak worldview will almost certainly drive some audiences away from First Reformed, but such is the lonely life of a lighthouse keeper. B

UNDERNEATH THE LINTEL

Theatre Latté Da adds music to the one-woman show

ALLEN WEEKS

BY JAY GABLER

Theatergoers who know Underneath the Lintel might have thought the idea of adding original music sounded like Andrew Lloyd Webber adapting My Dinner with Andre. Star Sally Wingert does eventually sing in Theater Latté Da's new production, but composer Frank London wasn't trying to turn Underneath the Lintel into a Broadway spectacular.

Glen Berger's 2001 script about an indignant librarian and a very late book return, written for a cast of one, has become popular around the world. A local production, well-acted by Patrick O'Brien, succeeded at the Minnesota Fringe. Latté Da director Peter Rothstein secured Berger's permission to "reimagine" the show with live music, and that's just one of the ways he's gone big here.

Although humor is an important element of the play, most productions probably don't have the audience guffawing from the first moments, as this one does, with Wingert pounding at a theater door until someone lets her in and she takes the stage laden with luggage. She exudes a sense of amusing urgency, although we subsequently learn that her self-appointed mission has been ongoing for a very long time.

She's a Dutch librarian appalled to find a book—a travel guide—returned fully 113 years late. Curious about the borrower's identity (and hopeful of collecting a mammoth fine), she starts to examine the available evidence. As one strand leads to another, she embarks on a globetrotting quest to discern the identity of a bookworm who may actually have lived that full span, and perhaps much longer.

Berger seduces the audience with this detective story, which spirals into something more along the lines of an existential crisis. As the play touches on elements of Jewish history and identity, London's music suggests a sacred ceremony: Singer/bassist Natalie Nowytski wordlessly sings along with multi-instrumentalist Dan Chouinard.

The musicians are often cued by a cassette player the librarian wields, blinking in and out in a curt manner that somewhat undercuts the sense of divine wonder that London's haunting score evokes.

While the production works well on a line-by-line basis, it somewhat loses sight of the play as a whole. The wonderful Wingert tears into this role, glorying as she proudly wields her date stamp and marshals her carefully tagged scraps of evidence. The problem is that when this loony librarian becomes a fundamentally comic character, it's hard to shift focus and portray her obsession as the result of creeping madness.

Rothstein's overall vision is strong, and some tweaks of tone might help keep this often gorgeous production on track for a more impactful denouement. Berger's resonant script is packed with detail and allusion, ripe for this lavish treatment. Who knows, maybe a card-catalog kickline would actually work.

A Guide For Caring For Your Clothes This Summer:

Summer is just around the corner and as the temps start to heat up we will sweat more and use more deodorant, but did you know that it can be damaging to your clothes? Make sure you don't put on more than you need and always let deodorant dry before putting on your garments. Sunblock can also stain or damage your clothes. Try to avoid contact with your clothing and wash hands after application. Another major enemy to summer clothing & swimwear is chlorine. After swimming make sure to rinse your suit as soon as possible and follow the care instructions on the label. Self-tanners and insect repellents with alcohols can also damage clothing. Pilgrim Dry Cleaners can ease your worries this summer and keep your favorite items looking their best!

GET OUT!

Let's narrow down your options for outdoor summer music

BY KEITH HARRIS

When it comes to summer fun, do you like having choices? Lots of choices? Like, so many choices that you spend hours flipping around on your phone trying to decide what to do and next thing you know it's Labor Day and you haven't left the house since June?

You have my sympathies. Because especially when it comes to hearing outdoor music in Minnesota, we have a ridiculous amount of options to select from. We don't have a lot of outdoor concert weather here, after all, and we've got to cram a lot of entertainment into the skimpy time period we're allotted. That means each weekend we're faced with impossible choices. A pricey megafestival? A well-stocked block party? A local musician singing her heart out for free in the park? It's all so overwhelming. What can be done?

Well, as my therapist often tells me, when you're feeling overwhelmed, it's good to make a list. So that's what I did for you, selecting your best musical option in various categories. All to keep you sane.

Most mysterious festival:

Eaux Claires (July 6-7)

Justin Vernon is certainly testing festival-goers' brand loyalty this year by keeping the lineup for the fourth Eaux Claires Festival under wraps. To some extent, aka Bon Iver has earned the right to be elusive: The previous iterations of the festival have all been brilliant, and the upper-tier packages are already sold out. Based on clues circulated by Vernon and his cohort, Patti Smith, Phoebe Bridgers, the National, and Sufjan Stevens are among the acts rumored to appear. The question is, are you willing to plunk down the cash to find out who really makes it?

Best outdoor venue that's really far away from the Twin Cities:

Bayfront Festival Park

Duluth, the Zenith City of the Unsalted

Twin Cities
Jazz Festival
at Mears Park

COURTESY OF EVENT ORGANIZERS

Seas (as Dr. Thomas Foster dubbed it 150 years ago), is a fabulous town, and among its finest features is a really big lake. (Some might call it "great.") Bayfront Festival Park takes full advantage of that gorgeous natural resource. Among the summer's musical offerings at the park along Lake Superior are Bone Thugs-N-Harmony (with special guests Naughty by Nature and Coolio), hometown pickers Trampled by Turtles, and country star Tyler Farr.

Best outdoor venue that's really, really far away from the Twin Cities:

Bluestem Amphitheater

What does Moorhead have that neither Minneapolis nor St. Paul does? A full-fledged amphitheater. Honestly, I've never been out to the Bluestem, but if distance from our metro is what you crave, then the three-and-a-half-hour drive to the North Dakota border could be the road trip for you. This summer's schedule overlaps a bit with the Bayfront's—for instance, Bone Thugs superfans can catch them twice in Minnesota.

Best place to gamble away your kid's college tuition before seeing Nickelback:

Casinos, casinos, casinos

I'm no expert on games of chance, but I'm told there's no better place to gamble than a casino. And lucky for you, Minnesota is lousy with them, and several offer outdoor concerts. Treasure Island in Red Wing, nearby Mystic Lake (in Prior Lake), and Hinckley's Grand Casino all provide similar showgoing experiences. Sure, the traffic's a mess and the folding chairs aren't butt-friendly, but come on, you expect to see a Brooks & Dunn concert in Orchestra Hall, your highness?

Best place to see music for free:

Music & Movies in the Parks

All summer long, the Minneapolis Park Board does a great job of scattering free music through five fine outdoor spots—the Lake Harriet Bandshell, Nicollet Island Park, Father Hennepin Bluff Park, Minnehaha Park, and Bryant Square Park. This year's August Music & Movies series consists of All Tomorrow's Petty with Almost Famous (Aug. 3), Roma di Luna with Hidden Figures (Aug. 10), the Bad Man with Catch Me If You Can (Aug. 17), and Nooky Jones with Cadillac Records (Aug. 24).

Best free jazz:

Twin Cities Jazz Festival (June 21-23)

That's not "free jazz" as in crazy, atonal saxophones honking without reference to tempo and melody. We're talking "free jazz," as in you can just wander into Mears Park and the surrounding venues in Lowertown and hear a solid mix of local and international jazz artists. This year, the headliners are Tia Fuller, Houston Person, Nayo Jones, Dee Dee Bridgewater, Aurora Nealand, and Tom McDermott.

Best place to see Los Lobos pretty much every summer if that's what you're into:

Minnesota Zoo's Weesner Amphitheater

Even if it wasn't one of the few concert series serving up big-name musicians in an outdoor setting locally, Music in the Zoo would be an institution worth celebrating. The best thing about this series is that it's reliable, booking the sorts of acts that consistently deliver, summer in and summer out. I mean, come on—Los Lobos is a great band.

Venue where going to a show is basically like if you could get drunk by listening to the Current:
Surly Brewing Festival Field

With its carefully selected acts, Surly's Festival Field, tucked over between University Ave. and 280 on the border between the cities, has smartly branded its summer concert series. This year, they're bringing in Spoon and Grizzly Bear (June 30), Sylvan Esso (July 20), Courtney Barnett (July 21), and Gary Clark Jr. (Sept. 8).

Best bridge-centric outdoor event:
Stone Arch Bridge Festival (June 15-17)

Never underestimate the role a really good bridge can play in an outdoor festival. The Stone Arch doesn't always get the biggest names, and it may not have as cool a reputation as some of summer's big block parties, but the entertainment is solid. And they've put together a family-friendly event spanning both sides of the Mississippi in one of the most scenic spots in Minneapolis.

Best last-minute replacement for an artist cancellation:
U.S. Girls at Rock the Garden (June 16)

No offense to the young British band Shame, who were originally announced as part of the lineup for the Walker and the Current's one-day fest, but the substitution of U.S. Girls, Meghan Remy's increasingly poppy experimental project, is actually a trade up. The rest of the lineup? Beloved narcissist Father John Misty, the long-dormant Feist, Kendrick-approved jazz notable Kamasi Washington, neo-outlaw country singer Nikki Lane, conceptually sharp retro-rockers Low Cut Connie, and standout locals P.O.S and Chastity Brown.

Well, there you have it. I'm not promising this list will solve all your problems. But if nothing else, you should be out of your house by July at the very latest. CB enlisted the band to contribute to their own albums. Last year, Little Dragon released the Nabuma follow-up, Season High, with effortlessly cool singer Yukimi Nagano floating over simmering, sneakily infectious beats. AMADOU & MARIAM

THE CEDAR CULTURAL CENTER, FRIDAY 6.8

After performing for three decades, the fusionist Malian duo Amadou Bagayoko and Mariam Doumbia exploded internationally with the 2004 album Dimanche à Bamako thanks, in part, to the heavy involvement of French star Manu Chao. The pair—husband and wife, both blind since childhood—have maintained a practically universal appeal ever since, their music rooted in Afropop and desert blues but gloriously indulging other sensibilities, like Amadou's classic-rock guitar gusto. With Talia Knight. 8 p.m. $45. 416 Cedar Ave. S., Minneapolis; 612-338-2674. —MICHAEL MADDEN

ELECTRIC FETUS' 50TH ANNIVERSARY PARTY FT. REAL ESTATE

FIRST AVENUE, SATURDAY 6.9

For the past decade, Jersey indie rockers Real Estate have consistently made a Byrds-style soaring jangle work for them. Last year, the band released In Mind, their first album without founding guitarist Matt Mondanile, who exited the band in 2016 over later-revealed sexual misconduct allegations. New guitarist Julian Lynch has proven admirably capable of replicating the established Real Estate sound. With Habibi, Flamin' Oh's, Last Import, and Roy Freedom. 18+. 7 p.m. $20. 701 First Ave. N., Minneapolis; 612-338-8388. —MICHAEL MADDEN

OKKERVIL RIVER

TURF CLUB, MONDAY 6.11

Okkervil River is really the vehicle for singer/songwriter Will Sheff, the only constant member in the indie-rock band's 20-year history. Bouncing back from 2016's death-haunted Away, which Sheff recorded with a new group of accompanists, Okkervil River returned this April with the playful In the Rainbow Rain, featuring the distinctly glimmering production of Shawn Everett (War on Drugs, Alabama Shakes). The gorgeous plea "Don't Move Back to LA" is a clear highlight. With Star Rover. 21+. 7 p.m. $20. 1601 University Ave., St. Paul; 651-647-0486. —MICHAEL MADDEN

FREE WILL ASTROLOGY

>> By Rob Brezsny

♈ ARIES (March 21-April 19): According to my analysis of the astrological omens, you would be wise to ruffle and revise your relationship with time. It would be healthy for you to gain more freedom from its relentless demands; to declare at least some independence from its oppressive hold on you; to elude its push to impinge on every move you make. Here's a ritual you could do to spur your imagination: Smash a timepiece. I mean that literally. Go to the store and invest $20 in a hammer and an alarm clock. Take them home and vociferously apply the hammer to the clock in a holy gesture of pure, righteous chastisement. Who knows? This bold protest might trigger some novel ideas about how to slip free from the imperatives of time for a few stolen hours each week.

♉ TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Promise me that you won't disrespect, demean, or neglect your precious body in the coming weeks. Promise me that you will treat it with tender compassion and thoughtful nurturing. Give it deep breaths, pure water, healthy and delicious food, sweet sleep, enjoyable exercise, and reverential sex. Such veneration is always recommended, of course—but it's especially crucial for you to attend to this noble work during the next four weeks. It's time to renew and revitalize your commitment to your soft warm animal self.

♊ GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Between 1967 and 1973, NASA used a series of Saturn V rockets to deliver six groups of American astronauts to the moon. Each massive vehicle weighed about 6.5 million pounds. The initial thrust required to launch it was tremendous. Gas mileage was seven inches per gallon. Only later, after the rocket flew farther from the grip of Earth's gravity, did the fuel economy improve. I'm guessing that in your own life, you may be experiencing something like that seven-inches-per-gallon feeling right now. But I guarantee you won't have to push this hard for long.

♋ CANCER (June 21-July 22): Mars, the planet that rules animal vitality and instinctual enthusiasm, will cruise through your astrological House of Synergy for much of the next five months. That's why I've concluded that between now and mid-November, your experience of togetherness can and should reach peak expression. Do you want intimacy to be robust and intense, sometimes bordering on rambunctious? It will be if you want it to be. Adventures in collaboration will invite you to wander out to the frontiers of your understanding about how relationships work best.

♌ LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Which astrological sign laughs hardest and longest and most frequently? I'm inclined to speculate that Sagittarius deserves the crown, with Leo and Gemini fighting it out for second place. But having said that, I suspect that in the coming weeks you Leos could rocket to the top of the chart, vaulting past Sagittarians. Not only are you likely to find everything funnier than usual; I bet you will also encounter more than the usual number of authentically humorous and amusing experiences. (P.S.: I hope you won't cling too fiercely to your dignity, because that would interfere with your full enjoyment of the cathartic cosmic gift.)

♍ VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): According to my analysis of the astrological omens, a little extra egotism might be healthy for you right now. A surge of super-confidence would boost your competence; it would also fine-tune your physical well-being and attract an opportunity that might not otherwise find its way to you. So, for example, consider the possibility of renting a billboard on which you put a giant photo of yourself with a tally of your accomplishments and a list of your demands. The cosmos and I won't have any problem with you bragging more than usual or asking for more goodies than you're usually content with.

♎ LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The coming weeks will be a favorable time for happy endings to sad stories, and for the emergence of efficient solutions to convoluted riddles. I bet it will also be a phase when you can perform some seemingly clumsy magic that dispatches a batch of awkward karma. Hooray! Hallelujah! Praise God! But now listen to my admonition, Libra: The coming weeks won't be a good time to toss and turn in your bed all night long thinking about what you might have done differently in the month of May. Honor the past by letting it go.

♏ SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): "Dear Dr. Astrology: In the past four weeks, I have washed all 18 of my underpants four times. Without exception, every single time, each item has been inside-out at the end of the wash cycle. This is despite the fact that most of them were not inside-out when I threw them in the machine. Does this weird anomaly have some astrological explanation? ~ Upside-Down Scorpio." Dear Scorpio: Yes. Lately your planetary omens have been rife with reversals, inversions, flip-flops, and switchovers. Your underpants situation is a symptom of the bigger forces at work. Don't worry about those bigger forces, though. Ultimately, I think you'll be glad for the renewal that will emerge from the various turnabouts.

♐ SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): As I sat down to meditate on your horoscope, a hummingbird flew in my open window. Scrambling to herd it safely back outside, I knocked my iPad on the floor, which somehow caused it to open a link to a Youtube video of an episode of the TV game show Wheel of Fortune, where the hostess Vanna White, garbed in a long red gown, revealed that the word puzzle solution was USE IT OR LOSE IT. So what does this omen mean? Maybe this: You'll be surprised by a more-or-less delightful interruption that compels you to realize that you had better start taking greater advantage of a gift or blessing that you've been lazy or slow to capitalize on.

♑ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You're in a phase when you'll be smart to bring more light and liveliness into the work you do. To spur your efforts, I offer the following provocations. 1. "When I work, I relax. Doing nothing makes me tired." -Pablo Picasso. 2. "Opportunities are usually disguised as hard work, so most people don't recognize them." - Ann Landers. 3. "Pleasure in the job puts perfection in the work." - Aristotle. 4. "Creativity is allowing yourself to make mistakes. Art is knowing which ones to keep." - Scott Adams. 5. "Working hard and working smart can sometimes be two different things." -Byron Dorgan. 6. "Don't stay in bed unless you can make money in bed." - George Burns. 7. "Thunder is good, thunder is impressive; but it is lightning that does the work." - Mark Twain.

♒ AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): "There isn't enough of anything as long as we live," said poet and short-story writer Raymond Carver. "But at intervals a sweetness appears and, given a chance, prevails." My reading of the astrological omens suggests that the current phase of your cycle is one of those intervals. Aquarius. In light of this grace period, I have some advice for you, courtesy of author Anne Lamott: "You weren't born a person of cringe and contraction. You were born as energy, as life, made of the same stuff as stars, blossoms, breezes. You learned contraction to survive, but that was then." Surrender to the sweetness, dear Aquarius.

♈ PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Between you and your potential new power spot is an imaginary 10-foot-high, electrified fence. It's composed of your least charitable thoughts about yourself and your rigid beliefs about what's impossible for you to accomplish. Is there anything you can do to deal with this inconvenient illusion? I recommend that you call on Mickey Rat, the cartoon superhero in your dreams who knows the difference between destructive destruction and creative destruction. Maybe as he demonstrates how enjoyable it could be to tear down the fence, you'll be inspired to join in the fun.

SAVAGE LOVE

Shameful

How do I get my husband to give up his diaper kink?

I've been married to my husband for two years. Five months into our relationship (before we got married), he confessed that he was an adult baby. I was so grossed out. I told him he would have to choose: diapers or me. He chose me. I believed him and married him. Shortly before the birth of our child, I found out that he'd been looking at diaper porn online. I lost it. He apologized and said he'd never look at diaper porn again. Once I was free to have sex again after the birth, it was like he wasn't into it. When I asked what the deal was, he told me he wasn't into sex because diapers weren't involved. I broke down, and he agreed to talk to a counselor. But on the day we were supposed to go, he said he wasn't going! I went crazy and called his mom and told her everything, and she said she found a diaper under his bed when he was 7! After this crisis, he agreed to work things out, but then I found adult-size diapers in the house. I took a picture and sent it to him, and he told me that he was tired of me controlling him and he is going to do this when he wants. I told him no, absolutely not, he cannot do this. Then I found adult-size diapers in the house again this morning and freaked out. He says he never wants to discuss diapers with me again, and I'm afraid he might choose them over me! Please give me advice on how to make him understand that this is not him! This is who he chooses to be! And he doesn't have to be this way!

MARRIED A DISGUSTING DIAPER LOVER

"In this case, I think MADDL's desire for her husband to have sexual desires she agrees with in order for her to be married to him is a form of sexual extortion, i.e., "If you love me and want to be with me, you'll give up this sexual interest that I find disgusting," says Dr. David Ley, a clinical psychologist, author, and AASECT-certified sex therapist. "Without empathy, mutual respect, communication, unconditional love, and willingness to negotiate and accommodate compromises and win-win solutions, this couple is doomed, regardless of diapers under the bed."

Now let's bring in a voice you rarely hear when diaper fetishists are being discussed: an actual diaper fetishist.

"The common misconception with ABDL (adult baby diaper lovers) is that they are into inappropriate things—like having an interest in children—and this couldn't be more wrong," said Pup Jackson, a twentysomething diaper lover and kink educator. "AB is not always sexual. Sometimes it's a way for a person to disconnect from their adult life and become someone else. With DLs, they aren't necessarily into age play—they enjoy diapers and the way they feel, much like people enjoy rubber, Lycra, or other materials. To understand her husband, MADDL needs to ask questions about why her husband enjoys diapers and figure out how to deal with it—because a lot of people want/need these kinds of outlets in their life."

Okay, MADDL, now it's time for me to share my thoughts with you.

This is not who your husband "chooses to be," since people don't choose their kinks any more than they choose their sexual orientation; outing your husband to his mother was unforgivable and could ultimately prove to be a fatal-to-your-marriage violation of trust; a counselor isn't going to be able to reach into your husband's head and yank out his kink.

Your husband told you he was into diapers before he married you—he laid his kink cards on the table at five months, long before you scrambled your DNA together—and he backed down when you freaked out. He may have thought he could choose you over his kink, MADDL, but now he knows what Dr. Ley could've told you two before the wedding: Suppressing a kink just isn't possible. So if you can't live with the diaper lover you married—if you can't accept his kink, allow him to indulge it on his own, and refrain from blowing up when you stumble onto any evidence—do that diaper-loving husband of yours a favor and divorce him.
